The Spurious Seven-Thirry Bonds. Colonel Wood, Chief of the Detective Division of the Pressury Department, has secured the three electrotype inted. They are as near fac circles of the original ation, and inspection shows that they had been defaced ration, and tespection shows that they had seen decrease by acratching and battering so that they could not be need; but there is emple and unquestionable evidence that they are the identical plates from which the spu-rious notes were printed. These plates have undoubt-edly been electrotyped from lead impressions taken of the original engraved plates. Buch impressions could the lead into all the minutest cuts and marks of the engraved plate, and produces a negative from which, by engaved place, and produces a negative from which, by the ordinary process of electrotyping, a fac simile of the original plate can easily be produced. The peculiar process of relling does not on account of the yielding and apreading of the lead, always leave upon the sheet-lead pracisely the name impression as upon paper; but it is, in general appearance, so nearly the mane in every particular as to deceive the most experienced experts. The electrotype plates of the tacks of the $20 and $160 actes, and those of the face that and back of the $1,000 actes, and those of the face that and back of the $1,000 seven-thirties, are now in the possession of the Secret Service division of the Treasury Department. It has been definetely accordanced that only $180,000 of the purious seven-thirties were put in circulation, and the set that were printed were destroyed; so that holders previous to August, 1887, may be sure that they are genuine, as the apurious issue was not put out until 16th and 20th of September.

The Rocky Maximin Grade for the Pacific Railrond.

In May last Mr. J. Blickensdorfer, Jr., engineer, was appointed to make an examination as to the point which should be considered as the eastern have of the Rocky Mountains to view of the provisions of the sieventh section of the and July J. 1862, greating to the Union Pacific Railroad 248,602 in bonds per interfer one hundred and fifty miles westerly of such has. On October 25 Mr. Blickensdorfer submitted a report of the await of his examination of the Rocky Numerous, area unpanying it with a map of the Rocky Vinnteins, area upanying it with a map and profiles. After giving a statement as the formssion of the several ranges comparing the Rocky Moun-tains along the route of the railread and in the vicinity thereof, that the Block Hills form as prominent feature of the Rocky Mountains, he comes to the conclusion that such base should be fixed at the base of the Black Hills, a distance of about six males and a half west of Cheyenne and, seconding to the railroad survey. about free hundred and twenty-five miles from the finitial point on the Missouri river, near Gunda. If appears from this report that the crest of the Black Hills where the railroad line crosses the same is $.24 Vicet above the sea. On the summit of the succeeding rivage, the Railleanake hills, the elevation is 7:152 feet, and at Dodge's summit, stated to be the dividing ridge of the countigent, 7:108 feet. The sittude of the country of the tomest point crossed by the railroad line between these summits is 6,484 feet above the sea. The Central Paring Railroad of California crosses the Sierra Nevada Mountains, seven thousand and forty-two feet above the sea. The Union Pacific Bailroad with therefore cross the Rocky Mountains at an elevation greater by twelve mile. The Precident approved of the recommendations of Mr. Blickensdorfer, and ordered that the point as described by him be considered as the cantern base of the Rocky Mountains for the purpose mantioused in the act of Congress.

Mr. Carrior, (rep.) of Pa., was of the opinion that it should not be granted. No such privileges would be granted to an American in the English Parliament.

Mr. Paragor advocated the resolution. It was to be expected that this Senate should be a little more democratic than the English House of Lords.

Mr. Stawar, (rep.) of Mass, thought the Senator from Kansas (Mr. Pomeroy, had touched the real point. There was no rule on the subject, and consequently no reason why the permission should not be granted. Let the Sanate judge each application on its merits, and no danger would result from the precedent if the privilege was granted to none but men of such commanding character as Mr. Hall.

THE CALL FOR INFRACEMENT OF MINISTER ADMS.
The House next proceeded, as the business in order, to the consideration—as a privileged question—of the resolution effered by Mr. Robinson, in reference to the treatment of naturalized American citizens in Great Britain, and calling for the impeachment of Minister Adams.

Mr. Romseow addressed the House in an hour's speech, reviewing the recent events to which his resolution had reference. He said he intended to keep calling the attention of Congress to the question until a remove should be applied. Within the last two years no American citizer had been allowed to visit Great Britain or regiond without heirs subjected to an insulting examinashould be applied. Within the last two years no American citizer had been allowed to visit Great Britain or Ireland without being subjected to an insuiting examination of their persons and effects. Reserving to the Abyseinian expedition, he said that Napier was marching on the enemy, while Grant's sweet was rusting in the scabbard, and Farringai's feet was firing salities to the government against which it should be operating. Ireland, he said, did not belong to England England had never conquer a superior race. One half of the members of the House, he said, were Irish; fifteen or twenty millions of the American people were either wholly or in part of Irish bloed, and in a short time there would be a hundred millions of men of Irish bloed in this country. Then, if England did not behave, they would do as the donkey did among the chickens—takes admes and let voyr one look out for his own toos. (Laughtor.) He of Congress, and directing that no committee shall be anthorized beneafte to sead for persons and papers, to examine without further order of the House. Adopted.

MERACHMEN OF THE PRISEDENT.

The SPEAKER stated that the business next in order was the execution of the order of the House directing the Judiciary Committee to report on the subject of the impeachment of the Fresident.

Mr. Bortwall, (rep.) of Mass., second member of the Committee, rose and said that he was directed by the Judiciary Committee to report the testimony taken by the Committee, in the matter of the charges made against the Fresident of the United States, the reference to the action of the House concerning its powers and duty on the matter of impeachment. That testimony he now presented together with the report of the Committee and a resolution. All that part of the report which related to the evidence taken, and the consideration of the law involved in the case were prepared, he said, by the member from Pennaytvania, Mr. Williams. It had fallen to his lot to present the report as being second on the committee, and the chairman dissenting from the report of the majority.

Mr. Washichar, (rep.) of Ill., suggested that the report take the ordinary course—that or being laid on the lable and ordered to be printed.

Mr. Eltor hoped the report would be now read. The House could not employ its time more judiciously than in listening to that report.

The SPAKER stated that on a motion to lay on the table any member had the right to call for the reading of the paper.

Mr. Middle and ordered to the reading of the report.

Mr. Brooks (dem), of N. Y., said that the House would get tired of the reading in a few minutes, and suggested that the conclusions of the majority report, a document of about one hundred and fifty manuscript pages. After consuming half an hour is the reading.

Mr. Brisonan interrupted, and noved that the reading of the majority report, a document of about one hundred and fifty manuscript pages. After consuming half an hours.

The residing of the resolution was greeted with an outburst of applicant from certain parts of the salieries, clapping of higher monetain parts of the salieries, clapping of higher monetain parts of the salieries, clapping of higher manifesting and the galleries. The Speaker all the time hammared with his gavet to restore order.

When the demonstration subsided the Speaker declared that any person in the galleries manifesting applicance or hissing would be removed from the galleries.
